THIS ESTIMABLE CITIZEN PASSED AWAY SUNDAY MORNING.

The Funeral Took Place Yesterday Afternoon...The Deaths of Other Well-Known Citizens.

Mr. Emil Otto Nobing died Sunday r orning at 5 c'clock after a critical illness of only a few days past. His health had been failing for the past two years, but his death was quite unexpected. He left a widow and ten children, and in their serrow they have the sympathy of the entire community and a host of friends who esteemed and loved Mr. Nolt-

He was the fourth child of Major George Frederick William Noiting and wife, nee Voss. He was born on their estate, Wiekride, near Minden, Prussia, June 22, 1824. His father was an officer in the Hanoverian army at the time of overthrow by Napoleon, went to England with the band of officers who would not submit to Napoleon's authority and service and joined the English Hanover-ian army, served during the Peninsula campaign under Wellington and fought under him in the battle of Waterloo. At lose of the war he retired to Wiek-In 1826 he removed to Bremen for he education of his children. Mr. Nolting, having received his education in Bremen, came to Richmond June 1829, and entered the office of his uncle, A. W. Nolting, then a prominent export-er of tobacco. He remained with the firms of A. W. Nolting and A. W. Nolt-& De Voss during their respective tences until 1850. He then formed a faceship with William Schaer and Kohler, of Haltimore, under the name of Schaer, Kohler & Co., doing business in Baltimore and Richmond, which continued until 1870. Mr. Schaer retiring, the firm was changed to Noit-& Kohler, Richmond, and Kohler & ing, Baltimore.

1871 the firm of E. O. Nolling was hished with charles Bauch as parthis always been in the front rank in the tonacco trade of the city.

Mr. Noiring's unusual ability, high character and clear judgment made him rominent in many undertakings, as il-ustrated by the following positions held by him at various times:

President of the Tebacco Trade, the Chamber of Commerce, the National Bank of Virginia, the Bank of the Commonwealth, director of the Mutual Assurance Society of Virginia, the Virginia and Marine Insurance Company nia Steamboat Company, Marsi Cotton Manufacturing Compa and other institutions. He was a member of the James River Improvement Committee, Board of Public Interests of Richmond, and National Board of Health.

He was appointed Consul for Belgium

COLORED INDIVIDUALS TURN A SO-CIABLE INTO A PANDEMONIUM.

Interesting War Relics Mayor's Court. Destroyed the Trees...True Bills Found. For the Afflicted Family.

MANCHESTER BUREAU RICHMOND TIMES, 1121 HULL STREET, BEATTIE BLOCK. The vicinity of Chester seems to have become a general stamping ground for fracases of various kinds. The authorities are now investigating a disturbance that occurred in a house near that village last Friday night.

It seems that a festival at this house brought out a number of colored sports and damsels from the surrounding neighborhood to engage in the festivities, and a colored delegation from the Courthouse went down to take part. The "Courthouse delegation" and the "Chester gang" soon succeeded in creating a first-rate row, and, in the midst of a general knock-down-and-drag-out, some one blew out the lights, and a small-size pande-monium ensued. Without lights the gay and festive crowd proceeded to stir things up. Amid the sound of revelry and war whoops like those of Indians seek-ing for scalps, pistol shots rang out on the silent atmosphere; colored debutants screamed and fainted, and in the general disturbance nobody knew "where he was

Razors flashed in the air, brass knucks were brought into action, several pieces of scantling figured prominently in close proximity with woolly craniums, and one colored individual received slashes on his anotomy. This continued for some time, and finally the celebration quieted down. Several representatives are said to have been badly hurt, and the Commonwealth's attorney went down yesterday to look into the particulars.

Postmaster Smith, who is an employe of the Old Dominion Iron and Nail Works Company, carried with him to Norfolk a lot of nails and small iron squares for pocket pieces made from this old armor plate. He has put them up in good shape and has attached several nails and one of these pocket pieces to a card, making an interesting war relic. He thinks that he will find a good sale for these relics at the naval rendezvous.

Transfer at First and Clay Streets. When the City Council passed the ordinance which gives the Richmond Union Passenger Raiway Company the privilege to construct a single track with two turnouts on First street from the Barton Heights viaduct to Clay street, this was done with the distinct underscanding that no transfer of passengers is to be made at First and Clay streets.

By some misunderstanding, however, the ordinance as enacted provides that the transfer is to be made at that point. Section 10 of the ordinance sets forth that the company shall allow any person coming from the viaduct or Henrico county over its route to be transferred to its main line at First and Clay streets. It shall also allow any person desiring to go over its route to the viaduct or into Henrico county to transfer from its main line at First and Clay streets to the proposed branch.

Badly Broken Up.

A negro boy, whose name was not learned, jumped from a moving train on the Chesapeake and Ohio railway Sunday about 9:39 A. M., upon which he was supposed to be stealing a ride, and was seriously injured. The accident happened near Walnut and Seventeenth streets, and the ambulance was called and took him to the almshouse. His nose was split in half, his mouth badly torn and many teeth knotted out; two ribs were broken, his hip cut and internal injuries received. His hands were badly torn, and the amputation of several fingers was necessary. Notwithstanding his many wounds and injuries he is doing well, with a fair chance of recovery.
